Yes, I support SFUSD having a similar policy to LAUSD's, written in consultation with San Francisco parents, and educators to reflect our needs. I was speaking with Tech in Check about this subject last week. I'd like to work with the community, educators, students and parents to create a policy that is right sized for SFUSD. I am not against technology, but I believe the research that shows technology has been integrated so fast there was not time to analyze the true impact on our young people and children. There should be a good foundation established before access to any AI. We need our children to have a human connection before technology is integrated.
